

Gitelman Syndrome Patient Journey

Needs:
Support in school & work.
Treatments (potassium and magnesium)

Ideally: Support in school
Granting treatments when necessary

Needs: Study and genetic counselling.
Psychological support. Treatments (potassium and magnesium and sometimes diuretic)
Patient education: information on how to prevent aggravation

Ideally: Granting treatments when necessary. Increased awareness among healthcare professionals in about the rare disorder through even more knowledge sharing. Perform genetic study. Include psychological support. Subsidy of treatments by the public health system.

Needs: Hypokalemia - Potassium treatment & control.
Hypomagnesemia - Magnesium treatment & control.
Support in school or work.

Ideally: Monitoring of the nephrology team
Subsidy of treatments by the public health system.
Support in school or work

Needs: Potassium and/or Magnesium treatment & control.
Support in school or work. Patient education: information on how to prevent aggravation.

Ideally: Monitoring of the nephrology team. Subsidy of treatments by the public health system.
Support in school or work
Help from other patients. For instance: social media support groups